

CURRY'S CLOSE CALL.

Gun Mitchell Stabs a Detective Three Times.

A Colored Man's Desperate Resistance to Arrest.

Held in Court To-Day for Attempted Murder.

Curry had a desperate encounter with Mitchell, but the policeman pluckily stood his ground, and finally overpowered and placed him under arrest.

Three colored women, Ada Bailey, aged twenty-nine; Anna Myler, aged twenty-seven; and Martha Johnson, aged twenty-seven, who reside at 214 West Thirtieth street, yesterday afternoon took a hatchet and broke into the apartment of Mary Deane, who lives in the same house.

The three ransacked her apartments and stole $60 worth of clothing. Mrs. Deane reported her loss to Detectives Hay and Curry, and at 11.30 they went to 214 West Thirtieth street and arrested the Bailey and Wright women.

Shortly after midnight Detective Curry from Martha Johnson at the corner of Twenty-ninth and Seventh avenue and placed her under arrest.

He started up Seventh avenue for the station with the woman, and at Thirtieth street, where Mitchell, who is said to be the lover of the woman, sprang at the detective and striking him a powerful blow in the face attempted to release the prisoner.

Curry turned upon Mitchell, who fled. Another policeman arrived at that moment and Detective Curry turned his prisoner over to him and started in pursuit of Mitchell, who he overtook at the back yard of 258 West Twenty-ninth street.

Mitchell bounded upon the back stoop as Curry had his hand almost upon his shoulder, Mitchell turned and brandished a knife, but Curry grabbed at the man's wrist, but the latter dodged and stabbed the policeman on the hand three times before the knife was knocked from the ruffian's hand by a blow from the detective's club.

Before Mitchell could offer further resistance the handcuffs were slipped on him and he was taken to the station.

MME. PORTER IN COURT. DID CALL HER A "FROST."

Held on the Charge of Shooting Maggie Cline Admits Part of Lady Mansel's Charge.

She Declares Mrs. Sutherland Shot Herself in the Struggle.

Mrs. Emma Porter, a gray-haired and feeble-looking woman, was held for examination in Jefferson Market Police Court this morning, on a charge of attempted murder.

Mme. Porter, as she is generally known, has made a living for almost a decade by forecasting the fates of actresses and shop girls, or, in other words, telling fortunes.

Probably not one of the many people who thronged the American Theatre Road, a few days ago, had any idea to-day of the volcano that was slumbering behind the lighted signs and has been for nearly a week.

The performance, as usual, went off without a hitch, and no one would have imagined for a minute that Stage Manager Louis Robins was gradually growing gray-headed because of the differences between two of his leading actors, or from the actions of the performers themselves, that there were any such differences existing.

But there were just the same. The cheerful, chattering, paralyzing smile of Lady Mansel, who, in her own thoughts, while Maggie Cline set her teeth more closely than in her work, and clinched her fists tighter than usual during the operation of throwing down the colored gentleman who was rash enough, according to the song, to "put up his dukes" before the renowned "Maggie."

It is the old story of home products against foreign importations. In the theatrical matters far Marguerite is a rabid protectionist, especially as regards London concert hall artists.

She has nothing to do with the Irish-American, and is fully as proud of the country she was born in as she is of the one she is now in. Naturally, then, she objects to even the appearance of snobbish and humbug.

The Ex-Congressman Says He Undertook Too Much.

Makes No Assignment and Will Pay Debts in Full.

Ex-Congressman J. Nelson Plocock and his son John P. Plocock met this forenoon at Taylor's Hotel in Jersey City and dissolved partnership.

Regarding their business at the foot of Sixth street, Jersey City, the ex-congressman said to a reporter:

"I had my arm around too much. I had a nice business, but like many other persons wanted the earth."

"I do not think my liabilities will be more than $500,000, although they may reach $600,000. The assets, including my real estate, amount to between $700,000 and $800,000. They will surely even up the liabilities."

"I shall not make an assignment or ask for a receiver, and shall try to work it out. I expect to pay my personal debts in full, and believe that I can do so. The management of the Plocock Lumber Company, I would have made it pay."

The stockholders of the Somerset Bank, which is a State institution, will be paid 75 cents on the dollar, while the creditors will be paid in full, dollar for dollar."

SOMERVILLE, N. J., July 8.—Excitement ran high in this town this morning over the announcement of the failure of the Somerset Bank. News was posted on the door stating that no business would be transacted except to receive payments for paper due.

There was a run on the bank, and at 10 A. M. a large crowd of depositors clamored for admission and eagerly inquired about their money. Finding that they could get no satisfaction they went away, several of the crowd, however, staying to wait for time to save themselves.

The general feeling here is that the worst has not yet happened, as the condition of the bank is not so bad as it seems. The general feeling here is that the worst has not yet happened, as the condition of the bank is not so bad as it seems.

The week on the Stock Exchange closed about as it opened—with dullness prevailing and a general disposition to operate outside of the stock market, however, it can be said that matters have been on the mend, and the indications seem to favor further improvement in the near future.

The savings banks are gradually returning to the National banks and trust companies the money withdrawn a couple of weeks since, when the officials prepared themselves for an emergency. Exchange has also weakened a little in the past day or two, and the demand from remitters is small.

The stock market opened dull and lower, prices declined 1/4 to 3/4 per cent, but the bears soon wanted to cover and a rally ensued.

BIG LOSS IN BANK RESERVE. More Than Six Millions Under the Legal Limit.

Shocking Returns Still Coming in from the Cyclone's Path.

Ten Victims Dead and Six Dying in Cherokee County.

Pathetic Incident—A Relief Fund Started at Des Moines.

CHEROKEE, Ia., July 7.—Ten dead and a half dozen dying mark the path of Thursday night's cyclone across the southern half of Cherokee County. Near Quimby, where the storm became a cyclone, it struck the house of Joe Wheeler, a prosperous farmer, whose family were in the cellar, and thrown into the stream.

Samuel Hugh, his wife and three children were killed, and another child, the last of the family, was fatally injured. The bodies were carried from sixty rods to half a mile from the house and piled into the mud. John Peters left his family in the cellar to go upstairs to close a door, when his house was swept away and he was fatally injured
